Va. Traffic Death Toll

VA. TRAFFIC DEATHS
FIRST SIX MONTHS OF 1961

Richmond, Va... Virginia's hopes of a fourth consecutive year in which traffic deaths were reduced were dampened by a disastrous June toll which ran to 84 fatalities, topping last June's record by 19. Colonel C. W. Woodson, Jr., Chairman of the Governor's Highway Safety Committee and Superintendent of State Police announced today.

Included in this total were 24 deaths resulting from seven crashes, he said.

"This occurrence of crashes killing more than one person represents ill fortune of the most tragic nature but establishes no trend," he continued. "Once a crash occurs, as many people as fate places in the vehicle involved, are exposed to death. These people, do not contribute to the crash and are powerless to take any action ha might prevent it."

During the first six months of 1960, there were 357 deaths while the corresponding period of 1961 saw 368. The latter figure can rise even higher with late reports or persons dying who are now listed as injured. For statistical purposes deaths occurring after a crash revert to the date of the crash.

An even more disastrous month was March, in which 79 people died to far surpass the toll of 49 for March of 1960. Until 14 people died in two crashes late in June, however, a slight reduction of the 1960 score had been en-

Election Results Pleasing Here

Appomattox County gave a big vote to the winning "ticket" in Tuesday's Democratic Primary election. Albertis S. Harrison rolled up 1,607 Appomattox votes for Governor, to 219 for his opponent, A. E. S. Stephens. Harrison sweeps every precinct in the county.

The Harrison "ticket" swept into nomination State Senator Mills A. Godwin for Lieutenant Governor, and Robert Button for Attorney General. They won over a slate of Stephens for Governor, Senator Armistead Boothe for Lieut. Gov., and T. Munford Boyd, for Attorney General.

Voting here was somewhat slack in the morning hours, but picked up sharply in late afternoon. At the big court house precinct, a total turn-out of almost 800 voters were recorded.

Agee precinct gave 96 votes to Harrison, 12 to Stephens.

Chag had it 63 for Harrison to 7 for Stephens.

Chestwood went for Harrison, 29 to 9.

Clover Hill had it 160 for Harrison to 26 for Stephens.

Court House: 707 to 84.

Oakville came in with 186 for Harrison to 41 for Stephens.

Pamplin had it 124 to 9.

Rocks went 60 to 6 for Harrison.

Stonewall ended up with 147 for Harrison to 23 for Stephens.

Walkers Church had 35 for Harrison to 2 for Stephens.

Thus Harrison carried each precinct in the county. The other candidates on his "ticket" fared equally well. In the county, Godwin had 1606 and Button 1590.

Statewide, the total vote was considered "light," well under the 400,000 mark, but Harrison was an easy winner, with a plurality of nearly 50,000.

Visitors Are Flocking Here

Reports from local tourist centers indicate that this is one of the best visitor years for Appomattox.

There have been several reports of all local tourist facilities being filled to capacity, and the "overflow" being routed elsewhere.

Chief center of attraction here is the National Park Service restoration at Old Appomattox Court House. However, being located as it is at the "Virginia crossroads" for anyone going anyplace, Appomattox is drawing a tremendous volume of traffic.

Eastern Star Meeting Date

Eastern Star Chapter here has announced that the meeting scheduled for July 17, will not be held on that date. This is due to a special meeting to be held for the area in Amherst.
